

Diversity in food a highlight of Marsfest

Northern District Times
Wednesday 15 March 2017

Sisters Sakina and Sabera Mohammadi.

Ella and Alessandra Somido dressed as Mexicans.

MARSDEN High School last week celebrated Marsfest, an annual exploration of the school's diversity.

Activities were capped off with a special Lunchtime - Foodfest, for which students brought along a dish representing their traditional cuisine.

They prepared dumplings and baked some items, however, the school ordered in pizza and Chinese food.

Students and staff also wore cultural dress.

Students Samir, Khatab Chahleh, Andrew Inn, Daksh Biala with history teacher Arash Atah. Pictures: Virginia Young